

hash and the cryptographic public key to verify that it originates from Alice and payment is approved.

In this case, the whole transaction is conducted without any of the parties exposing more information than is necessary. In other words, using zero-knowledge proof.

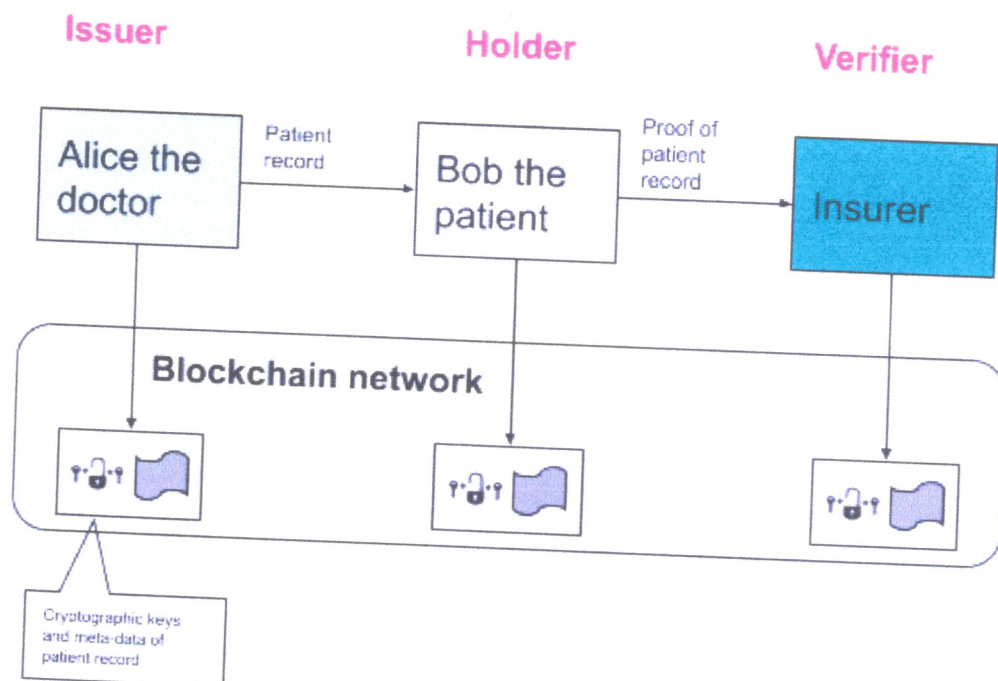

Figure 3: Medical treatment and claims

Applied Consentia Product Roadmap

From an Applied Consentia's perspective, the goal is to create a series of tools to enable consumer of the tools (namely end-user of the solution or system integrator) to orchestrate and build a DDi solution such as the example illustrated in this document,